

People, politics and protests in Venice (15th-17th centuries)
Workshop Amsterdam, 27-28 February 2015

Friday, 27 February 2015, 9:00-12.30 – Bungezaal 1.01
Session 1. Protest and violence in the city of Venice

Chair: Claire Judde de Larivière (University of Toulouse)
Discussant: Serena Ferente (King's College, London)

Papers

Andrea Zannini (University of Udine/Centro Interuniversitario per la Storia di Venezia)
Protests, strikes and violent conflicts in the world of the Venetian guilds, 16th- 18th centuries
Matteo Casini (Suffolk University, Boston)
Public rituals and violence in late medieval and early modern Venice
Maartje van Gelder (University of Amsterdam), Filippo de Vivo (Birkbeck College)
Unserene Venice: Riots and public order in 1569-1570

Friday, 27 February 2015, 2.30-5.30 – Bungezaal 1.01
Session 2. Protest and revolts in the Venetian territories

Chair: Maartje van Gelder (University of Amsterdam)
Discussant: Andrea Zannini (University of Udine)

Papers

Stephen Bowd (University of Edinburgh)
Violence against Jews and resistance to Venetian authority
Monique O'Connell (Wake Forest University)
From conspiracy to peasant revolt to nation-building: Classifying the uprisings in Venice's maritime state
Eleni Tsourapà (University of Athens)
From contestation to "revolt": Forms of popular protest in the islands of Crete and Kythira during the Venetian period (16th-17th centuries)

Saturday, 28 February 2015, 9.30-12:00 – Belle van Zuylenzaal
Session 3. Repressing, controlling and forgetting revolts

Chair: Serena Ferente (King's College, London)
Discussant: Jan Dumolyn (Ghent University)

Papers

Federico Barbierato (University of Verona/ Centro Interuniversitario per la Storia di Venezia)
State Inquisitors and the control of political dissent in seventeenth-century Venice
Claire Judde de Larivière (University of Toulouse/Labex SMS)
Do revolts exist when there is no 'revolt discourse'? The case of the 'Revolt of the Snowballs' (Murano, 1511)

Saturday, 28 February 2015, 12:30-14:30 – Belle van Zuylenzaal
Session 4. Working lunch & final discussion